

Louis Henschen

Louis Henschen is a classical violinist and teacher based in Ann Arbor, Michigan. He has been playing for over twenty years, and holds bachelor's and master's degrees in violin performance from Baylor University and the University of Michigan, respectively. Originally from Austin, Texas, he benefited greatly as a young student from the excellent music education system in his native state. He began playing in orchestra at the age of 7, and has since played with various orchestras in Michigan and Central Texas. In addition to classical violin, Louis also enjoys playing baroque violin, as well as viola. Louis is enthusiastic about encouraging new students to develop a love for music, as well as helping them to build the technique necessary to play and enjoy music themselves.
